

There are needs in life that are never covered in school. Life lessons that are never taught. Budgeting and how to adequately maintain health in personal finance is essential, yet is only learned through trial and error in life. It does not take a rocket scientist to surmise why those who have wealth, generally are able to keep it in their family, nor why a majority of those people who win the lottery end up going broke within 10 years. The "basics" of personal finance seem to have been forgotten in this age where cell phones, laptops and the advent of social media has brought people around the world closer than ever. Living in America, the land of the free and the home of the brave, there are certain things we have grown up believing. One of which is the "American Dream", the promise of the possibility of prosperity and success. This book my friends, is my gift to you.
